DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of Group I, Species I, Sub-Species I-I-A, and Sub-Species I-II-B (claims 1-4, 6-13, 15, and 16) in Paper No. 3 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4, 10, 11, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Olson (U.S. Patent 3,664,912).

Olson discloses a method of binding a plurality of sheets into a bound stack to form a book, magazine, pamphlet, brochure, etc. Olson teaches providing a plurality of sheets (e.g. paper sheets), applying a binding/protective coating to at least a portion of each sheet, overlaying the plurality of sheets to form a stack, and applying binding energy (e.g. heat and pressure) to the stack in a binding region such that the binding/protective coating of each sheet fuses to adjacent sheets in the stack to form a multiple paper form such as a book, magazine, pamphlet, brochure, etc. that can be printed on (Figures 1 and 2 and Column 1, lines 11-23 and Column 5, lines 10-15).

4. Claims 1-4, 10, 11, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Osogoshi et al. (JP 08052827 and see also the English abstract and machine translation).

Osogoshi et al. disclose a method of binding a plurality of sheets into a bound stack to form a book, calender, magazine, notebook, etc. Osogoshi et al. teach providing a plurality of sheets (e.g. paper sheets), applying a binding/protective coating to at least a portion of each sheet, optionally printing the coated sheets, overlaying the plurality of sheets to form a stack, and applying binding energy (e.g. heat and pressure) to the stack in a binding region such that the binding/protective coating of each sheet fuses to adjacent sheets in the stack to form a multiple paper form such as a book, calender, magazine, notebook, etc. that can be (optionally) further printed on (English abstract and paragraphs 8, 10, and 14 of the machine translation).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6-9, 12, 13, and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson.

Regarding claims 6, 13, and 15, as noted above Olson teaches using a plurality of sheets having binding/protective coatings to form books, magazines, pamphlets, brochures, etc. such that one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have readily appreciated that using a plurality of sheets as taught by Olson would have included using at least three sheets to form the above products.

Regarding claims 7-9 and 12, Olson does not specifically teach all the various binding regions claimed. However, it is noted Olson teaches forming books, magazines, pamphlets, brochures, etc. such that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to bond the plurality of sheets taught by Olson in the different claimed binding regions in order to form the above products.

7. Claims 6-9, 12, 13, and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Osogoshi et al.

Regarding claims 6, 13, and 15, as noted above Osogoshi et al. teach using a plurality of sheets having binding/protective coatings to form book, calender, magazine, notebook, etc. such that one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have readily appreciated that using a plurality of sheets as taught by Osogoshi et al. would have included using at least three sheets to form the above products.
